

JAKE TOMLIN
President
Grand Canyon Scenic Airlines

Jake Tomlin dreamed of working in aviation from the time he was 5 years old, but never expected he would have the opportunity to do so while working with family. Tomlin currently serves as president of Grand Canyon Scenic Airlines where he oversees Nevada Fixed-Wing Operations, assists in political and corporate affairs and flies as a captain in the DHC-6 Twin Otter. He brings nearly 15 years of experience in professional aviation for both the Department of Defense and commercial air tour industry.

Prior to joining Papillon Group, Tomlin served 11 years as an F/A-18 pilot and officer in the United States Marine Corps. His previous work experience includes management in personnel, quality assurance, safety, aircraft maintenance, flight training and flight operations (both domestic and international).

Tomlin is also part of the Papillon family. As the nephew of Brenda Halvorson, chief executive officer, he has become part of the Halvorson family's third generation of company leadership.

He is also an active participant in several professional organizations including the Helicopter Association International (HAI) and the National Business Aircraft Association (NBAA). He has an Airline Transport Pilot certificate and is a graduate of Heli-Expo's Helicopter Operator Management Course.

Tomlin received a degree in Systems Engineering from the United States Naval Academy and Master of Business Administration from the University of Phoenix.
